

Georgetown University
Health Policy Institute
CENTER FOR CHILDREN
AND FAMILIES

Examining the Results: Children, Families and the ACA

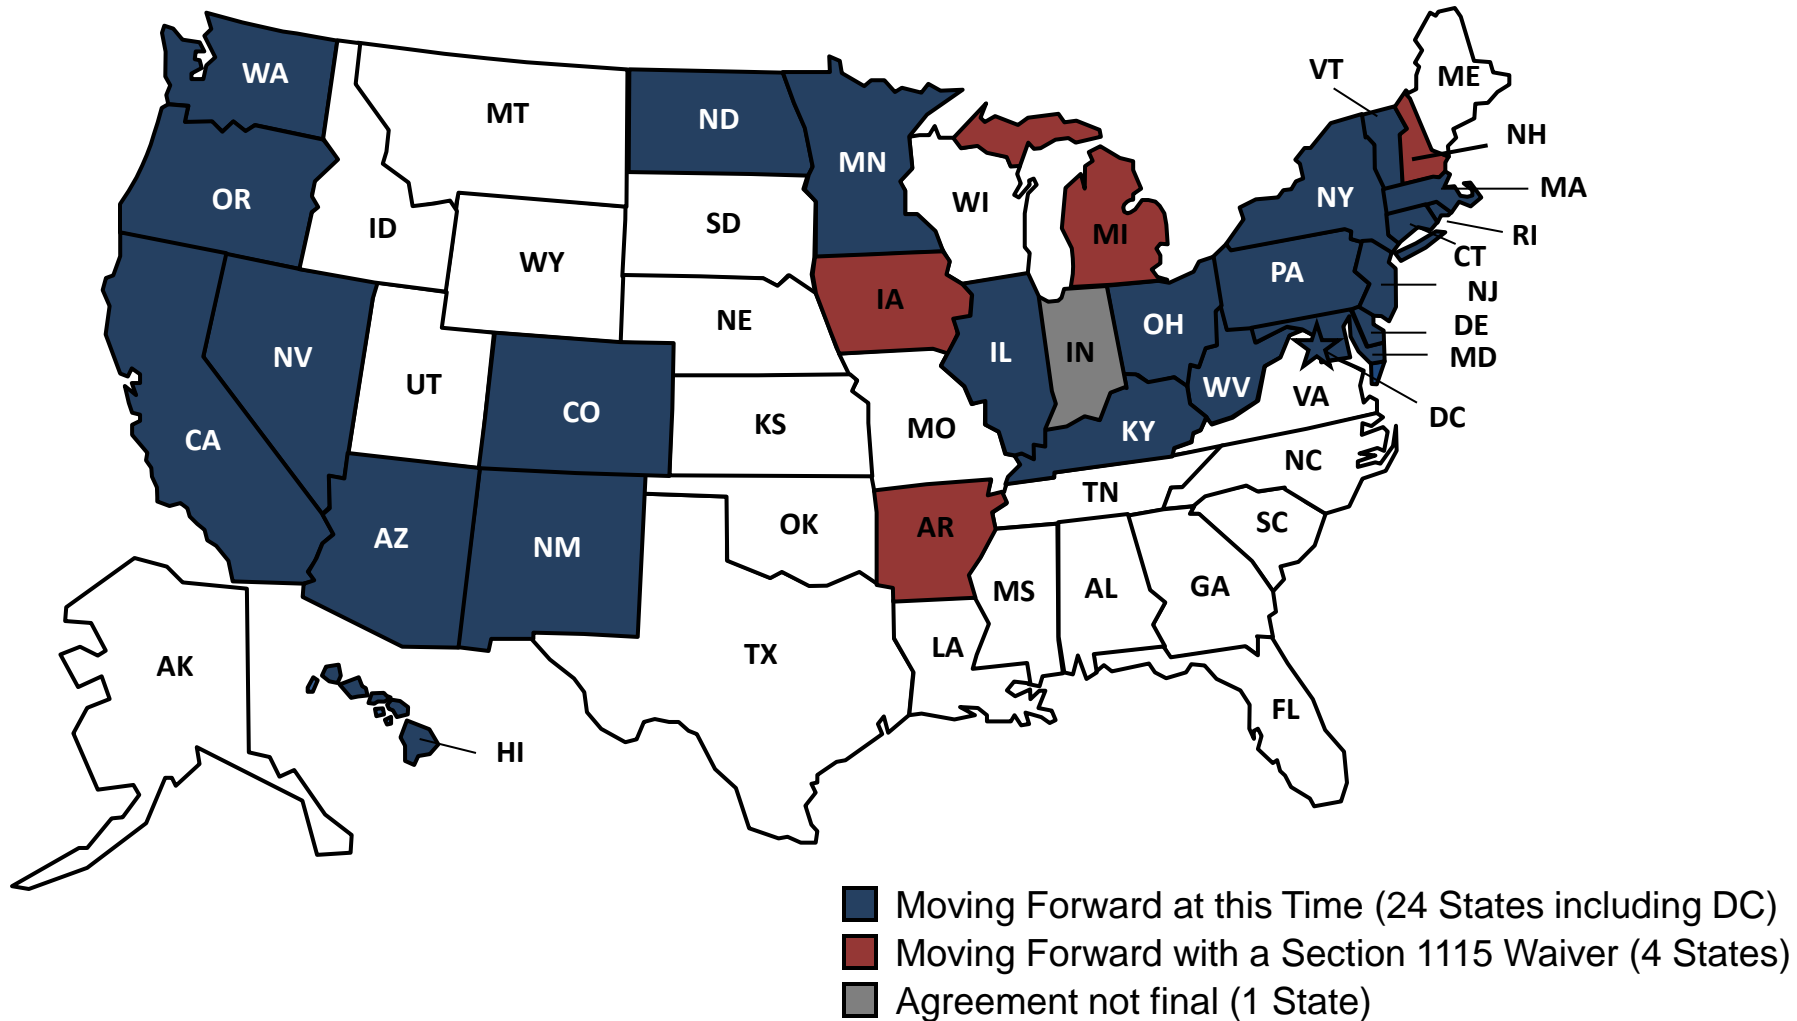

Joan Alker

Executive Director

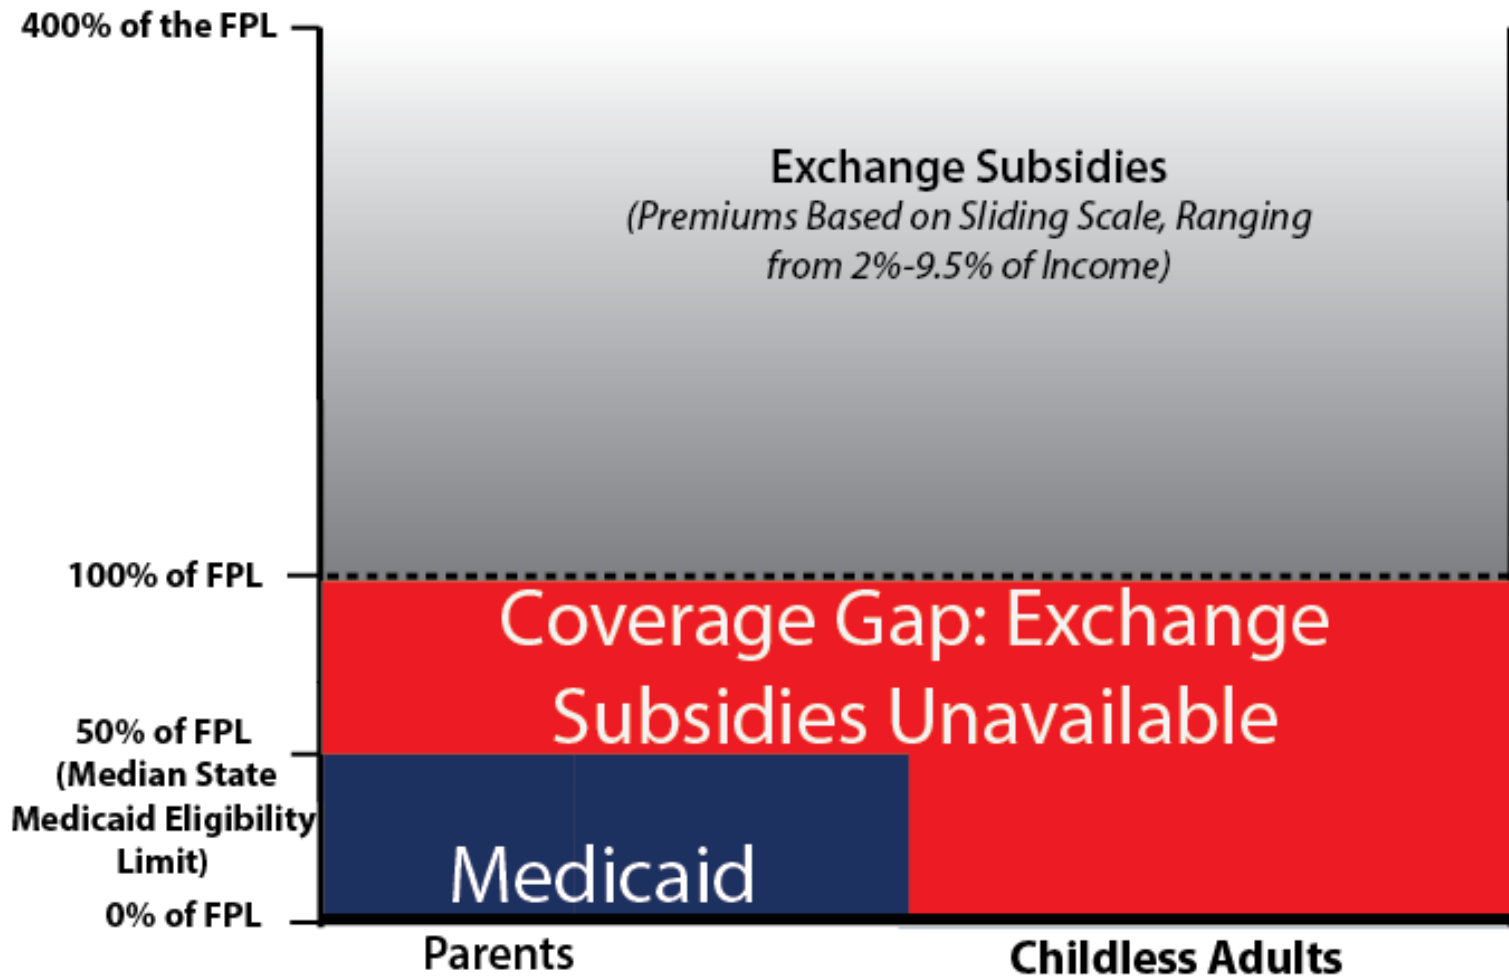

Georgetown Center for Children and Families

December 9, 2014

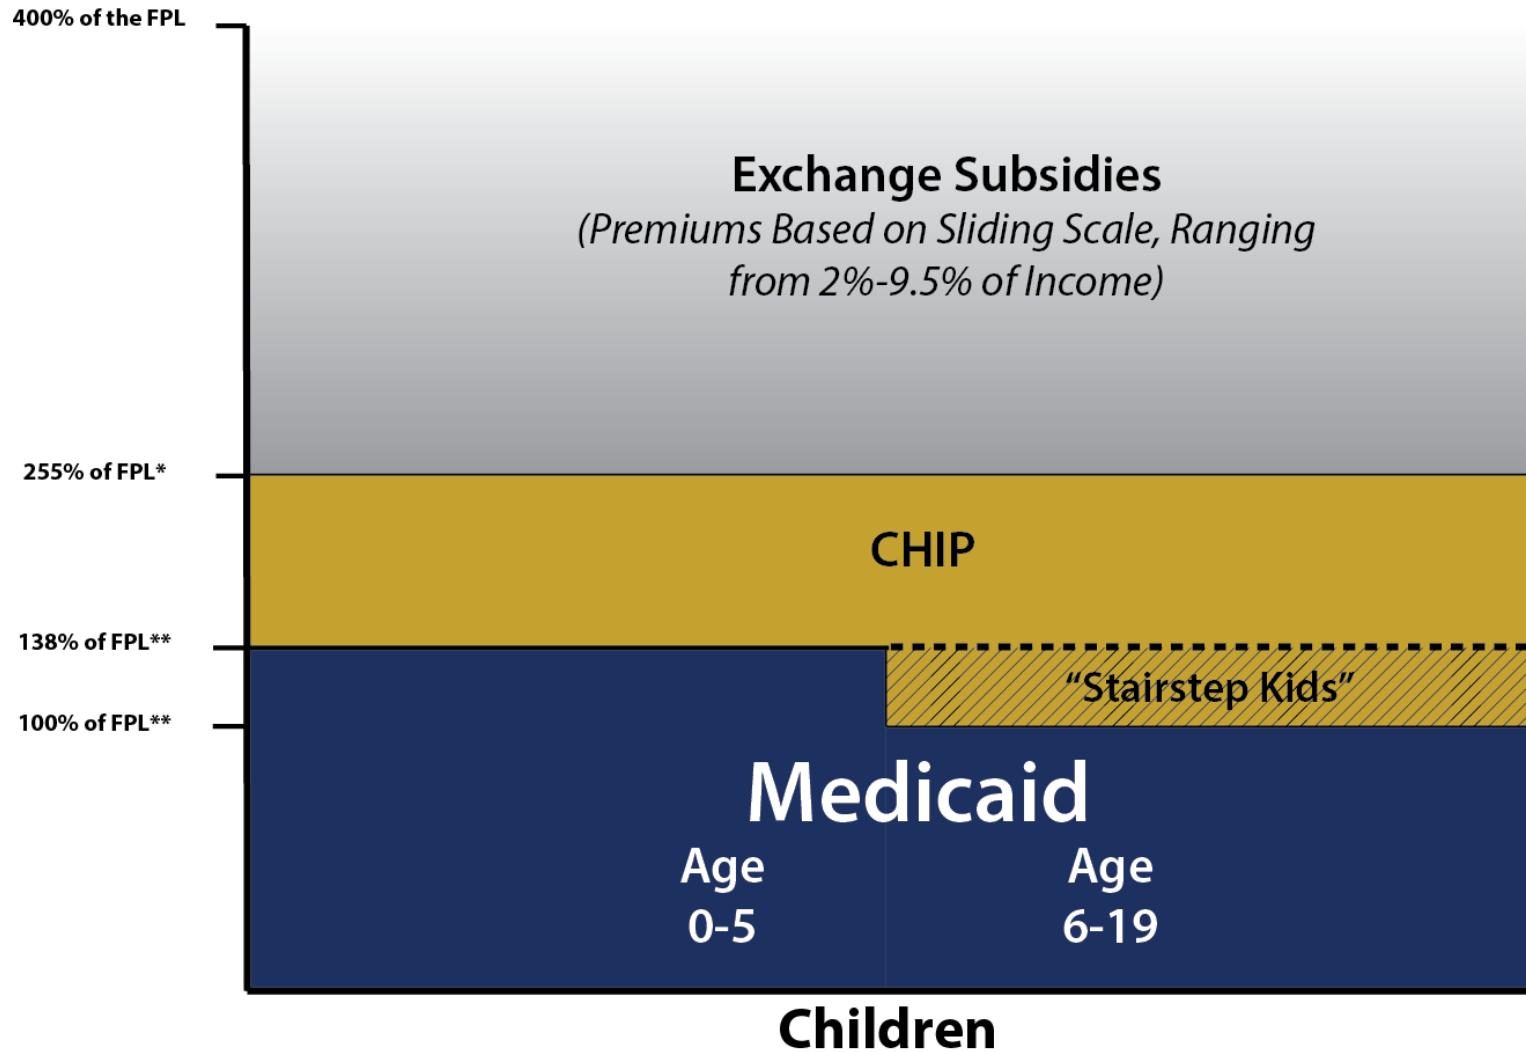

Status of Medicaid Expansions

Adult Coverage in the United States w/o Medicaid Expansion, 2014

Children's Coverage in the United States, 2014

What Happens to CHIP Kids if Funding Runs Out in 2015?

CHIP-funded children will fall under one of the following scenarios:

- Maintain coverage on Medicaid – state receives lower match/less federal funding
- Fall into “family glitch” and become uninsured
 - Could affect 2 million kids
- Move to marketplace coverage with tax credits for families
- Opt in to other private and likely unaffordable coverage options
- Get lost in the shuffle and become uninsured

Obama Plan May Allow Millions of Immigrants to Stay and Work in U.S.

The New York Times, November 13, 2014

Obama's Immigration Plan Will Affect These K-12 Students With Undocumented Parents

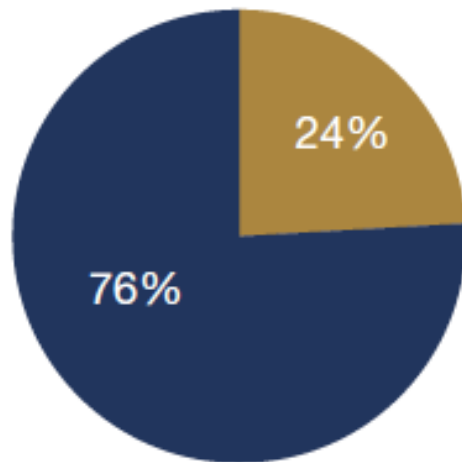

The Huffington Post, November 19, 2014

Law Profs: Legal To Include More Immigrant Parents In Exec Action

NBC News, December 7, 2014

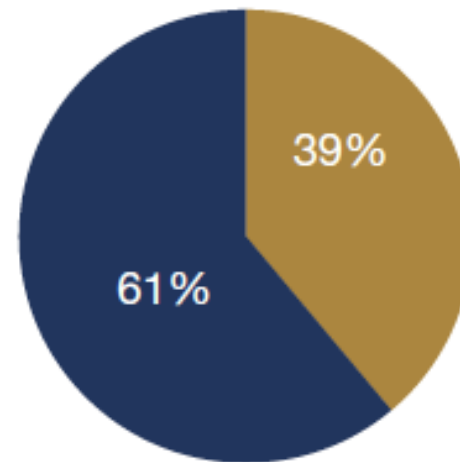

Hispanic Children are Disproportionately Uninsured

Hispanic Children as a Percent of the Total Child Population, 2013

■ Hispanic Children
■ All Other Children

Uninsured Hispanic Children as a Percent of Uninsured Children, 2013

■ Uninsured Hispanic Children
■ All Other Uninsured Children

For More Information

- Joan Alker:
 - jca25@georgetown.edu
 - Twitter @JoanAlker1
- CCF website: ccf.georgetown.edu
- Twitter @GeorgetownCCF
- Say Ahhh! Our child health policy blog: ccf.georgetown.edu/blog/

