NEW GRANTS & PROGRAMS

- The Alaska Mental Health Trust Authority (Anchorage) awarded a total of $86,248 in grants statewide for innovative small projects of $10,000 or less that are a direct benefit to trust beneficiaries, people with mental illness, developmental disabilities, chronic alcoholism and other substance-related disorders, Alzheimer's disease and related dementia, and traumatic brain injury resulting in permanent brain injury. Bethel Community Services Foundation will receive $10,000 for improvements to Bautista House, an assisted living home for individuals experiencing mental illness or developmental disabilities. Access Alaska, Inc. (Fairbanks) will use a $10,000 grant for its Warmth, Shelter, Safety and Food program for persons experiencing mental health and possibly co-occurring substance abuse issues. Sitka Community Hospital will receive $8,767 for the purchase of a new bed for use with Alzheimer's disease and related dementia patients. The bed is equipped with internal alarms and features that make it easy for patients to get in and out of bed and avoid falls. The City of White Mountain will receive $10,000 for an innovative suicide prevention effort targeting rural youth. Funds will be used to hire an additional pottery instructor to host pottery nights for school-age children. Contact: Lucas Lind, 907.269.7999, lucas.lind@alaska.gov.
- Augusta Health (Fishersville, VA) awarded more than $100,000 in one-year grants to nine local, community-based organizations to meet the health care needs of area residents. Among the grantees are: Augusta Regional Free Clinic (Fishersville) – $20,000 to implement a chronic care model for the treatment of diabetic patients; Crossroad to Brain Injury Recovery (Harrisonburg) – $16,000 to coordinate case management of primary care needs and mental health needs of the brain-injured population; Project GROWS (Staunton) – $15,000 to design and implement a circular fitness and learning trail that incorporates fitness equipment and an edible garden; Valley Hope Counseling Center (Waynesboro) – $12,000 to subsidize low-fee substance abuse counseling for low-income individuals who otherwise cannot afford to access treatment; Rockbridge Area Transportation System (Lexington) – $8,662 to provide transportation to patients from the Rockbridge area to Augusta Health; and Highland Medical Center (Monterey) – $5,000 to develop a youth wellness council that will conduct a needs assessment and develop a pilot program targeting youth obesity. For more information, contact 540.245.7329 or visit www.augustahealth.com.

- Bristol-Myers Squibb Company (Princeton, NJ) announced donations totaling $1 million to four nonprofit organizations that support patients with cancer. The donations will fund the development and availability of educational materials for patients and caregivers about immuno-oncology, an emerging field of cancer research and treatment. Bonnie J. Addario Lung Cancer Foundation (San Carlos, CA), Cancer Support Community (Washington, DC), LUNGeVity

GIH NEWS

NEW GIH PUBLICATION EXPLORES HEALTHY EATING AND ACTIVE LIVING GRANTMAKING

GIH's latest publication Foundation Strategies to Promote Healthy Eating and Active Living scans a sample of GIH Funding Partners to gain a clearer understanding of health foundations' strategic approach to healthy eating and active living (HEAL) grant-making. Funded by The Colorado Health Foundation, the scan considers foundations' history with, current strategies for, and future plans regarding HEAL-related investments, as well as prevailing views on the value and effectiveness of these efforts. Visit www.gih.org for the full report.

ATTEND GIH'S MEETING ON CREATING AN INTEGRATED CHILD HEALTH SYSTEM

On April 29 GIH will be hosting Creating an Integrated Child Health System Using a Population Health Perspective, in Washington, DC. Sponsored by Nemours, this meeting will focus on innovative practices and policies and catalytic roles that grantmakers can play to improve children's health. For more information, visit the "Events" section of www.gih.org.

Visit www.gih.org for the latest Issue Focus and Views from the Field articles.

Foundation (Chicago, IL), and Society for Immunotherapy of Cancer (Milwaukee, WI) each received a $250,000 charitable contribution to advance their independent educational initiatives. Contact: Chrissy Trank, 609.252.3418, christina.trank@bms.com.

- California HealthCare Foundation (Oakland) and The Kresge Foundation (Troy, MI) announced a multimillion-dollar initiative to invest in companies that serve community health centers. Over the next three years, the Partnering for Impact initiative will invest at least $5 million in several companies that have technology- or service-based solutions that help community health centers and clinics further extend their resources, increase patient access to care, and/or lower the cost of providing care. To be eligible for investment, entrepreneurs must be based in the United States and demonstrate how their product or service can maintain or improve patient experience while accomplishing one or more of the following goals: enhance health center efficiency by at least 20 percent; increase access to highly needed health services for 100,000 patients annually; and/or reduce costs by $25 million annually. In addition to receiving funding, selected companies will be paired with community health centers and clinics ready to implement new solutions, along with mentors experienced in community health center management, technology, and public payment issues. Grant funding for technical assistance and evaluation may also be available. Contact: Emma Dugas, 510.587.3159.
- Cambia Health Foundation (Portland, OR) has awarded $309,213 to The Children's Center (Salt Lake City, UT) to create a statewide system of care for underserved children using cost-effective, evidence-based trauma treatments. Over the next three years, the center will use foundation funding to develop a core curriculum and train clinicians using a two-year learning collaborative that will prepare them to return to their communities with skills in providing direct care to children and families, creating collaborations between partner agencies, and training and mentoring mental health colleagues in their communities. This, in turn, will increase access to quality trauma-informed treatments for families living in rural and urban communities throughout the state of Utah. The project estimates serving at least 480 children throughout the three-year grant period. The foundation also made a $200,000 grant to Food Lifeline (Shoreline, WA) to establish the Nourishing Healthy Kids Produce Initiative, a two-year effort intended to improve children's health by offering families more fresh fruits and vegetables at their local food bank or meal program and through Food Lifeline's direct distribution programs. Nourishing Healthy Kids will distribute 1.3 million pounds of fresh produce to underserved children and families in western Washington. For more information, visit www.cambiahealthfoundation.org/media/news-releases.html.

- CareFirst BlueCross BlueShield (Owings Mills, MD) has committed approximately $1.3 million to four initiatives designed to expand the use of telemedicine to treat patients with behavioral health care needs in underserved urban and rural areas of Maryland and Washington, DC. The following community health organizations were funded: Sheppard Pratt Health System (Baltimore, MD) – $647,200 to provide approximately 1,200 patients of federally qualified health centers in Maryland's Worcester, Somerset, Garrett, Cecil, Caroline, and Dorchester counties with access to psychiatrists via teleconferencing and video conferencing; La Clinica del Pueblo (Washington, DC) – $424,635 to expand remote access to its bilingual counselors and health care providers through teleconferencing to nearly 650 patients in the metropolitan area; Atlantic General Hospital (Berlin, MD), in partnership with Kennedy Krieger Institute (Baltimore, MD) – $189,656 to provide initial evaluations and follow-up visits to approximately 325 children and young adults with learning disabilities and behavioral disorders in Worcester, Wicomico, and Somerset counties; and Catholic Charities of Baltimore – $53,479 to provide behavioral health services to about 120 underserved children and adults in Baltimore City, as well as Anne Arundel and Allegany counties, using video conferencing technology. Contact: Scott Graham, scott.graham@carefirst.com, 800.914.6397.

- Caring for Colorado Foundation (Denver) awarded more than $3.1 million in grants to 63 organizations that address the health and well-being of Coloradans. Colorado Health Institute (Denver) was awarded $300,000 to support its efforts aimed at informing policy and advancing health by serving as a leading source of reliable health information for Colorado leaders. Colorado Cross Disability Coalition (Denver) will use a $50,000 grant to assist people with all types of disabilities in accessing, maintaining, and utilizing health care services. Colorado Coalition for the Medically Underserved (Arvada) was awarded $50,000 to support and enhance the work of the Colorado Network of Health Alliances toward improving population health and increasing access to health care services. A $40,000 grant to Colorado Community Health Network will help maximize statewide enrollment and retention of low-income children and families in Medicaid and Child Health Plan Plus. Contact: Bob Mook, 303.862.1508.
- Connecticut Health Foundation (CT Health) (Hartford) announced intended funding to increase the diversity of consumers participating in health reform engagement and advocacy. CT Health anticipates funding four to six grant requests ranging from $25,000 to $50,000. The foundation believes that by engaging more organizations led by and serving consumers of color in health reform, the state's health care access and delivery system transformations will be better positioned to equitably serve all Connecticut residents. To be eligible, an organization must have 501(c)(3) status and meet two or more of the following criteria: a nonprofit that is led by a person of color, a nonprofit that is governed by a board composed of a majority (more than 50 percent) of people of color, and/or a nonprofit that serves populations/communities of color. The deadline for proposals is April 21, 2014. For more information, visit www.cthealth.org/grants/open-rfps/.

Corporation for National and Community Service (CNCS)

(Washington, DC) released a notice of funding availability of up to $65.8 million for the Social Innovation Fund's (SIF) 2014 grant competition. This is the largest grant pool in the history of the program, a White House initiative launched in 2009. SIF accepts applications from foundations and other grantmakers seeking to grow innovative, effective solutions in low-income communities in the United States. Successful applicants will receive grants of between $1 million and $10 million per year for three to five years. Grants will be matched dollar for dollar by the grantmakers, who conduct their own open competitions to select innovative, effective nonprofits focused on youth development, healthy futures, and economic opportunity. Funding priorities include Opportunity Youth, Vulnerable Populations, and Collective Impact. The deadline for application submission is 5:00 p.m. ET on Tuesday, April 22, 2014. For more information, visit www.nationalservice.gov/sif.

- Grant Healthcare Foundation (Lake Forest, IL) awarded approximately $1.1 million in grants to 41 organizations that work to benefit the health status of local residents. Among the grantees are: Planned Parenthood of Illinois – $100,000 for general operating support of Chicago area activities; Skin of Steel, NFP (Glenview) – $75,000 to support the development of a melanoma tissue bank; Sinai Health System (Chicago) – $60,000 to support an access center for behavioral health; Almost Home Kids (Chicago) – $30,000 to support a physical therapy program for children transitioning from hospital to home; Horizon Hospice and Palliative Care (Chicago) – $30,000 for the provision of palliative care for uninsured patients; Erie Family Health Center (Chicago) – $25,000 for an oral health program at primary care clinics in Humboldt Park and at Swedish Covenant Hospital; American Indian Health Service of Chicago – $20,000 to support a primary health care clinic for Native Americans; Life Matters Media (Chicago) – $20,000 for an outreach program to encourage advance care planning and end-of-life care; Chicago

Youth Program – $15,000 to support volunteer health clinics and health education; and Mobile C.A.R.E. Foundation (Chicago) – $10,000 to support an asthma management program on Chicago's West Side. Contact: Kate Grubbs O'Connor, 847.735.1590, koconnor@granthealthcare.org.

- Greater Milwaukee Foundation (WI) awarded $2.3 million to area nonprofits with programs that address education, health, economic development, and other concerns for local residents. Among the grantees with health-related programs are: Aurora Family Service – $60,000 to provide supportive mental health services for children, their parents, and their teachers at four local schools; Community Advocates – $40,000 for the Elder Abuse Intervention Project; Medical College of Wisconsin – $25,000 for the Breast Cancer Fatigue Research Project; YMCA of Metropolitan Milwaukee – $25,000 for a diabetes prevention program at the Northside YMCA; AIDS Resource Center of Wisconsin – $20,000 for HIV prevention services through clean needle exchange; IMPACT Alcohol & Other Drug Abuse Services – $15,000 for a diversity research intern; The Women's Center – $15,000 for administration of its violence prevention program geared toward educating teens about healthy dating relationships; and IMPACT Alcohol & Other Drug Abuse Services – $6,300 for an environmental scan of alcohol and other drug abuse services in the greater Milwaukee area and their utilization. For more information, visit www.greatermilwaukeefoundation.org.
- Green Tree Community Health Foundation (Philadelphia, PA) awarded $80,000 to the following local organizations: VNA Community Services (Norristown) – $30,000 to provide direct primary health care through Ginny Coombs Children's Health Clinic to uninsured and underinsured children; Maternity Care Coalition (Philadelphia) – $20,000 to support the MOMobile program, which provides essential maternal and child services to young, at-risk families in northwest Philadelphia; Women's Medical Fund (Philadelphia) – $15,000 to provide financial assistance and telephone support/casework to low-income women seeking access to safe, legal abortions; Resources for Human Development: Healthy Mothers Healthier Babies (Lancaster) – $7,500 to provide prenatal, prevention, and nutrition services for 20 mothers diagnosed with obesity, diabetes, high blood pressure, gestational diabetes, toxemia, and other conditions; and SeniorLAW Center (Philadelphia) – $7,500 to provide free legal assistance to elders, as well as community education on preparing critical health care and financial planning documents. For more information, visit www.greentreecommunityhealth.org and select the "Grants" tab.

- The George Gund Foundation (Cleveland, OH) awarded 59 grants totaling $4.1 million to support a range of programs and activities that enrich the lives of Cleveland residents. Several Cleveland-based organizations received funding for health-related programs, including Environmental Health Watch, which received $250,000 for general operations and to support the Clean Air Campaign. The foundation also awarded $125,000 to MetroHealth System to open a mobile, school-based health clinic at Lincoln West High School on Cleveland's near west side. It is hoped that this pilot program will launch a citywide partnership among Cleveland Metropolitan School District (CMSD), MetroHealth, and other primary care providers that will eventually include all CMSD schools. Healthy Mothers, Healthy Babies Coalition will receive $100,000 over two years to support the Ohio Text4baby initiative. In addition, Mental Health Services for Homeless Persons, Inc. will use a two-year, $100,000 grant to support efforts to integrate primary and behavioral health electronic health records. For more information, visit www.gundfoundation.org/grants-awarded/human-services/february/.
- The Health Trust (San Jose, CA) awarded a two-year grant for $200,000 to The Enterprise Foundation, host of the Silicon Valley Small Business Development Center (SBDC), to help corner store operators undergo a healthy makeover. In a recent Health Trust-funded survey of the San Jose area, 75 percent of corner store owners indicated that they would be interested in carrying additional fresh foods but have not been able to do so due to the lack of refrigeration equipment, fear of having food spoil, and not knowing how to source healthy food. The SBDC will use funding to help a total of 40 corner stores in San Jose by Spring 2015. The healthy makeover of corner stores can involve offering new healthy products, changing product placement, employing new retail marketing strategies, changing equipment, and converting physical space to increase the purchasing of more affordable healthy food. Working Partnerships USA will also be involved to encourage community support of the program and to foster loyalty for the participating stores. Contact: Patty Fisher, 408.513.8705, pattyf@healthtrust.org.

- The HealthPath Foundation of Ohio (Cincinnati) has awarded 10 grants totaling $1.4 million to organizations in its 36-county service area through its Strengthening Ohio's Safety Net (SOSNet) initiative. Dental Center of Northwest Ohio (Findlay), Health Partners of Western Ohio (Lima), and Lutheran Family Health Centers (Cincinnati) received grants totaling $362,500 to launch the Lutheran Ohio Advanced Education in General Dentistry Residency Program. SOSNet community-based training grants totaling $556,929 were awarded to five organizations to develop or implement programs to increase the number of under-represented students entering health profession training programs. Among them are: Humility of Mary Health Partners (Warren), which received a planning grant to develop a rural training track for dental residents in Columbiana and Carroll counties, and Northeast Ohio Medical University (Rootstown), which will apply funding toward launching the Health Professions Affinity Community program in high schools located in Monroe, Noble, and Washington counties. In addition, the foundation awarded a grant in the amount of $500,000 to Ohio's Finance Fund (Columbus) to establish the Community Health Loan Fund, which provides flexible financing for eligible health and wellness-related projects servicing low-income communities. For more information, visit www.healthpathohio.org and select "News & Events."

- Hogg Foundation for Mental Health (Austin, TX) announced the awarding of a three-year, $536,000 grant to SafePlace of Travis County (Austin, TX) to support the development of a comprehensive training curriculum and toolkit to increase the awareness and provision of trauma-informed care for children with intellectual and other developmental disabilities (IDD). The grant will also support statewide trainings using the curriculum developed. The goal of this project is to promote awareness of the impact of trauma on children with IDD, build Texas' expertise on trauma-informed care for children with IDD, and improve mental health treatment for children with IDD who have experienced trauma. SafePlace will be contracting with the National Child Traumatic Stress Network to develop, test, edit, and publish the training curriculum and toolkit. A second phase of the project will consist of SafePlace planning and coordinating multiple statewide trainings across Texas using the newly developed curriculum. This grant program is one part of the foundation's strategic focus on promoting trauma-informed understandings that will lead to more effective and humane interventions. Contact: Daniel Oppenheimer, oppenheimer@austin.utexas.edu, 512.471.9142.
- Interact for Health (Cincinnati, OH), in partnership with ArtsWave (Cincinnati, OH), launched Join the Fun, a series of community events to promote physical activity among local residents of all ages and to encourage building social connections. As part of the program's launch, Interact for Health and ArtsWave provided more than $300,000 in funding to 21 local organizations to plan new, recurring active living events for large groups of people. Join the Fun organizations represent a variety of locations and types of events across the Greater Cincinnati region. Examples of Join the Fun events include: closing city streets for different physical activities, spontaneous public dance events, and access to sports equipment through local libraries. A full listing of events can be found at www.interactforhealth.org/join-the-fun. Contact: Allison Ryan, 513.312.0185, allison@rickmillercommunications.com.

- New York State Health Foundation (New York) has awarded 26 grants for more than $400,000 to help community-based organizations across New York State advance the National Diabetes Prevention Program (NDPP). Ranging from local health departments and health systems to community health centers and YMCAs, the organizations will use the grant awards to support a variety of activities to implement and grow NDPP, including the expansion of existing programs; communication, outreach, and education activities to obtain a steady flow of participants; and development of business plans to sustain the program. Among the grantees are: Health People, Inc. (Bronx) – $20,000; S2AY Rural Health Network, Inc. (Corning) – $20,000; Glen Falls Hospital, Inc. – $15,981; Adirondack Health Institute Inc. (Queensbury) – $15,000; Allegany Western Steuben Rural Health Network (Wellsville) – $15,000; YMCA of Broome County (Binghamton) – $15,000; and Center for Comprehensive Health Practice (New York) – $15,000. For more information, visit www.nyshealthfoundation.org and select "News & Events."

SURVEYS, STUDIES & PUBLICATIONS

- The Commonwealth Fund (New York, NY) has released Young Adult Participation in the Health Insurance Marketplaces: Just How Important Is It?, which details perspectives from a recent discussion of prominent actuaries, insurers selling plans in the marketplaces, health policy researchers, and federal officials on the significance of young adult participation and other factors on the success of the Affordable Care Act's marketplaces. The brief explains that because young adults are disproportionately uninsured and tend to be healthier, their participation has been viewed by many as essential to the stability of the marketplaces. Participants in the discussion, however, said that enrolling young adults is important, but only one of a number of factors affecting marketplace premiums and not the most critical. There was broad agreement that several of the law's provisions and other factors would help limit insurers' losses and keep premiums affordable for consumers. One such provision is that insurers can charge older adults up to three times as much as they charge younger adults. Further, the law provides that any premium rate increase of 10 percent or more must be justified by insurers and reviewed by regulators. Contact: Bethanne Fox, 301.448.7411, bf@cmwf.org.

OTHER NEWS

- The Greater Clark Foundation (Winchester, KY) is partnering with the Kentucky Nonprofit Network (KNN) (Lexington) to fund a series of classes to strengthen local nonprofit organizations. The 2014 Capacity Building Series will help organizations in the Clark County community enhance their organizational and leadership capabilities. Events will continue throughout the year and will be facilitated by KNN. Topics will include board governance, fund development, evaluation, volunteer management, and other related areas of organizational practice. Organizations are invited to send members of their board of directors and leadership representatives for participation. For more information and to register, visit www.kynpn.wwbtc.com/node/25294.
- de Beaumont Foundation (Bethesda, MD), Duke Community and Family Medicine (Henderson, NC), and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (Atlanta, GA) announced the launch of A Practical Playbook: Public Health & Primary Care Together, a new initiative to support the project-based integration of public health and primary care. The Practical Playbook seeks to achieve three objectives: to improve population health; to better manage illness, especially chronic disease; and to mitigate health care costs. It gives local health administrators, public health officials, and primary care providers the means to offer more comprehensive health care both within and beyond a clinical context. To promote this kind of public health and primary care collaboration, the Practical Playbook initiative has developed a Web-based tool in three parts. Part One, "Learn," explains the theoretical background of public health and primary care integration. Part Two, "Do," outlines action steps for starting a collaborative project to engage with a health concern in the same community such as heart disease, obesity, or asthma. Part Three, "Share," provides case studies of successful collaborative projects, complete with direct contacts to the project leads. To learn more about the Practical Playbook, visit www.practicalplaybook.org.

- The Horizon Foundation (Columbia, MD), MedChi (Baltimore, MD), American Heart Association's Mid-Atlantic Affiliate (Dallas, TX), and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Maryland State Conference (Arnold), as well as fellow health advocates and Maryland General Assembly leaders, announced the formation of Sugar Free Kids, a new Maryland coalition that will work to promote the passage of evidence-based policies toward reversing childhood obesity and teen diabetes. The coalition is supporting two bills that are currently before the Maryland General Assembly: Child Care Centers – Healthy Eating and Physical Activity Act (HB 1276, SB 716), which would require child care centers to serve healthier drinks to children, improve support to breastfeeding mothers, and reduce noneducational screen time; and Food Service Facilities – Meals for Children (HB 1255, SB 750), which would require restaurants to include healthy beverage items as part of their bundled kids' meal price but would preserve a parent's ability to separately purchase an unhealthy option for their children.
